THE CHILDREN'S LITURGY OF THE WORDMarch 22 P Kastelic S Rizzo

We moved in November almost two years to the day from the home that we moved into together as a married couple. We had rented it out in-between, but due to a series of unfortunate circumstances our house was very much damaged and the only way we could see to fix the situation was to move back in. It is much smaller than the house that we came from, but coziness is comfortable, right? We had all the amenities that we needed except one. A stove.

The people who rented our house saw fit to take the old stove, and we did purchase another one, but through another series of unfortunate incidents a stove arrived at our house not once, not twice but three times thoroughly damaged. We decided to cut our losses, request a full refund and go to another vendor. Little did we know that would take over fifteen weeks and several phone calls to receive a refund.

So, long story short, we have been flying without a stove for quite a while, and this is not to complain. You can do a lot with two crock pots, a griddle and a microwave. Actually, what you can do with those is quite impressive as long as you don't try to use them simultaneously because you tend to blow every breaker in the house. I grant you cooking Thanksgiving and Christmas dinners was more than a daunting task, but we got through it.

Just so you don't feel so bad for us, we did make the decision to wait after the holidays to go looking so that we were not inserting another bit of crazy into that season and also not to insert another bit of extra expense that is not necessary at that time.

But yesterday, we went to get a stove and I have to admit, I really wanted one...

While we were at the store we had an amazing young lady waiting on us, and as my husband talked to her about all the features, I was of course, wrangling the kids. It was about that time that my Henry, who is six, looked at me with the most excited eyes I have ever seen and said, "Mom, aren't you excited we are getting a stove because you can now do the thing you love and you are so great at!"

I almost passed out in the aisle.

There are many things I am known for, but cooking is not one. In fact for years, I truly have been amazed that I have managed to keep my family alive. I lust after good cooking skills and admire people who have them. When I am up with my kids at night I look up recipes and post them to Facebook, but realize that on some level they are things that are never going to be made. I am known for some dishes... I can really rock the frozen corn dogs and French fries. I am good at boiling corn on the cob. Oh, and my specialty... chicken nuggets. But, if it involves more than three ingredients, and dare I mention following a step by step direction (which has never been my forte), forget about it.

Of course our wonderful saleslady gave us a huge, "Awww" when my Henry said it because his sentiment was so sweet, but then I felt compelled to tell her how it was without merit because of my lack of cooking skills.

Her response? "It just goes to show you that he sees something in you that you don't see in yourself."

And those words, from a stranger this morning, made me stop and think, "How like God."

We see our sinfulness and he sees our ability to be sinless. How like God.

We see our flaws and he sees our potential. How like God.

We see our misstep and he sees it as one step closer to Him.

He sent his only Son to earth, not because He saw what we were not, but because He saw what we could be.

ETERNAL REST GRANT UNTO THEM, O LORD.

PRISON MINISTRY CORNER

March is yet another busy month at Richland Correctional. We are having a successful Alpha program, with 80 men attending our weekly class. The small group discussions provide the opportunity to respond to the week's topic and video, ask questions, and simply have the chance to share what is on one's mind and heart in a confidential setting. That is a real gift in prison, where men often do not feel safe sharing their thoughts and feelings. As mentioned in last week's bulletin, we pray the Stations of the Cross each Saturday afternoon of Lent; please contact Lynne at the Parish Center this week if you would like to join us once for Stations of the Cross.

Saint Thomas Aquinas said it best, "God was made man, that man might be made God." We don't need to question ourselves, because God has total faith in us.

My prayer for myself is that I am learning this lesson, that I am much more than what I see. My prayer for all of you and the children in our midst is that they never get stuck with where they think they are, but that they have the ability to see the potential of their greatness as God does.

Elizabeth Wurm
Director of Religious Education and Youth Minister

CORONAVIRUS/COVID-19

As a precautionary measure, our parish has already implemented the following: a) We have temporarily suspended offering the chalice at Holy Communion until a date to be determined in the Easter Season; b) hand sanitizer is available at all exits; c) we intend to empty, clean, and refresh the Holy Water in the holy water fonts on a regular basis.

As Catholics, our faith reminds us that the whole Christ, that is, his Body and Blood, Soul and Divinity, is present when the Host [only] is received (General Instruction of the Roman Missal, no. 282).

We strongly encourage you: a) not to hold hands during the Lord's Prayer, a gesture that is not prescribed in the Roman Missal; b) refrain as much as possible from shaking hands at the Sign of Peace. We can express a sign of peace or charity to your neighbor with a smile, saying "Peace be with you!" Further, as stated in the bulletin a few weeks ago, c) do not be offended if someone does not wish to shake your hand before or after Mass - including the priests or deacon.

Generally speaking, this illness has forced us to become even more conscious of handwashing with soap and warm water, using hand sanitizer, and covering our mouth when coughing or sneezing. Common sense and proper hygiene is the best prevention at this time.

Finally, please stay at home when you are seriously ill. You are not obliged to attend Mass, and even out of charity you ought not to attend (refer - Catechism of the Catholic Church, no. 2181).

WORKING HARD FOR A NEW SPARTAN OUTFIT!

These great teachers and staff were "Go Spartans!" all the way last week for the pie-in-the-face fundraiser sponsored by Student Council. With the old Spartan mascot outfit having seen better days from years of wear, efforts are ongoing by the hard-working Student Council to raise enough money to purchase a new Spartan mascot outfit for next school year. The students are very "Go Spartans!" and are very appreciative of the history and tradition of St. Peter's. For more information about how you can help Sparty get a new mascot outfit, contact Student Council advisor, Mrs. Janene Smith, at the high school. 419-524-2572 Go Spartans!
