FROM THE PASTOR

In the gospel passage this Sunday, we hear some of the religious authorities complaining about Jesus, saying: "This man welcomes sinners and eats with them!" These religious authorities condemn Jesus for what He is doing because they fail to see themselves and their God-given mission as they truly are. They too are sinners who are in need of the mercy of God. Their sin of pride and self-righteousness is as harmful to them as greed is to the tax collector and fornication is to the prostitute.

The religious authorities also failed to recognize that their mission was to bring people back to God instead of avoiding them. Jesus visits with sinners and eats with them because He loves them. It is because Jesus truly loves them that He helps them to see their sins and calls them to reconciliation. Jesus is calling each of us to overcome our sinful tendencies and habits. When we do this, Jesus says in today's Gospel that we are to "celebrate and rejoice" because "the lost has been found" and the "dead has come to life again".

Reconciliation was at the heart of Jesus's ministry. Our own experience of sin confirms that we are frequently in need of forgiveness. Jesus knew that the ministry of reconciliation needed to continue even after His ascension into heaven. That is why the Apostle Paul tells us in our second scripture reading this Sunday about "the ministry of reconciliation" that he received from Christ. This ministry that he and the other apostles received is the sacrament of Reconciliation, which is more traditionally known as the sacrament of Confession.

The "ministry of reconciliation" continues today through priests. Just as God gives priests the power to transform bread and wine into the Body and Blood of Christ, so too they are given the power to forgive sins. Pope Francis said that we should "submit" to God in the "sacrament of mercy" where we are "transformed". He said that "going to Confession is abandoning oneself" to the love and mercy of God. The reason we go to church for baptisms, weddings, and funerals is the same reason we should go to church for the forgiveness of our sins.

Humility and courage are sometimes needed to name our sins to the priest. What you might find helpful is that priests desire to spiritually help and heal people. We have promised absolute secrecy of the sacrament, even when threatened with death. Only the pope can forgive a priest who violates the secrecy of the confessional. The humility and courage needed to approach the priest in the confessional are the same humility and courage that will be needed when we find ourselves before the judgment seat of God when we leave this world.

Priests will be available here in the church at St. Peter this Sunday at 3pm. You'll find in this bulletin an examination of conscience to help you prepare and some quotes of the saints to inspire and motivate you.

Sincerely,
Fr. Miller

PRISON MINISTRY CORNER

Thank you to our Parish Prison Ministry team member Brenda Heuer for leading the prayerful and touching Mary's Way of the Cross Stations at RiCI last Saturday. Also, at RiCI, our brothers in the Friday evening Catechism Class enjoyed the fine Catholic tradition of a Lenten Fish Fry! Thank you to our brothers at ManCI for the beautiful rosaries they are making and sharing with St. Peter's parishioners. As regular readers of "Prison Ministry Corner" know, our parish ministries at RiCI and ManCI are dynamic. We invite those who are interested to consider a visit to experience these vibrant ministries. For information on RiCI, contact Lynne Lukach; for ManCI, contact Fr. Kevin Moebius (both can be reached at 419-524-2572).

MONTESSORI LEPRECHAUN TRAPS

As part of our celebration of all things Irish last week, Montessori students built leprechaun traps to help keep their "gold" safe. However, they were not successful. Students arrived on St. Patrick's Day to find a leprechaun made quite a mess at Montessori house.

MOUSE AND MOTORCYCLE: ONE BOOK, ONE SCHOOL

Over the past three weeks, students in Montessori through grade six have read the book: Mouse and Motorcycle. This week they finished the book and were able on Friday to watch the movie! Fr. Miller and Mr. Roger helped with "room service."

In the book, the mouse calls it "room service" any time the boy brings him food. When he gets stuck in the trash can he eats an apple core and the boy brings him peanut butter sandwiches and toast. So the students were served apples and "toasted" peanut butter crackers as they watched the movie version of the book.
